

Genesee Country Village

Some photos that I took during my visit there on October 2, 2011:

Beautiful old barn. Wonderfully high and dry.

Garden House. Beautiful classical details. All the shuttered doors can be opened, making it very airy. Very elegant.

Another view of this beautiful Garden House.

Breathtaking Victorian mansion.

I think this was originally a post office. Small building, with the architectural features of a large neoclassical structure. Very appealing.

I would very much like to live in this “immense” small building.

A beautiful resident yoke of Oxen.

Beside these two, there was also a young yoke of oxen on the grounds when I was there.
